

Dr Raghupati Singhanian

CMD, JK Tyre,
on the BSI/FSI

I was walking through the pits where the student teams were working and it's fascinating to see the involvement, the creativity, the type of designs that they have mustered, and the enthusiasm. I got a chance to talk to some of them. They have been working extremely hard and have committed a lot of resources. They are most excited about the outcome, the performance of their little vehicles which have been so well created. I think the BSI/FSI is a great thing to do. We look back at it with such affection. We've been associated with Baja since 2008. We are also heading towards formula cars. The event is a great opportunity for the students to learn, for the students to perform and create better engineering knowledge in their respective fields."
